

Paradise Pond at Smith College, Northampton, Mass. Here students practise for Float Day, the big water carnival in the spring.

Here is the original Smith College, now College Hall, one of seventeen buildings used by 1,999 undergraduates.

Smith College library, one of the most impressive buildings on the campus. Eric Stahlberg-McClellan studio.

A view across the campus at Smith, Students Building, where the spring step sings are held, is in the background.

Above—The gardens, one of the most picturesque parts of Smith campus, with paths, pools and a romantic grotto.

A new portrait of Mrs. Livingston Rowe Schuyler of New York, who was elected president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at the convention in St. Louis. (c) Underwood

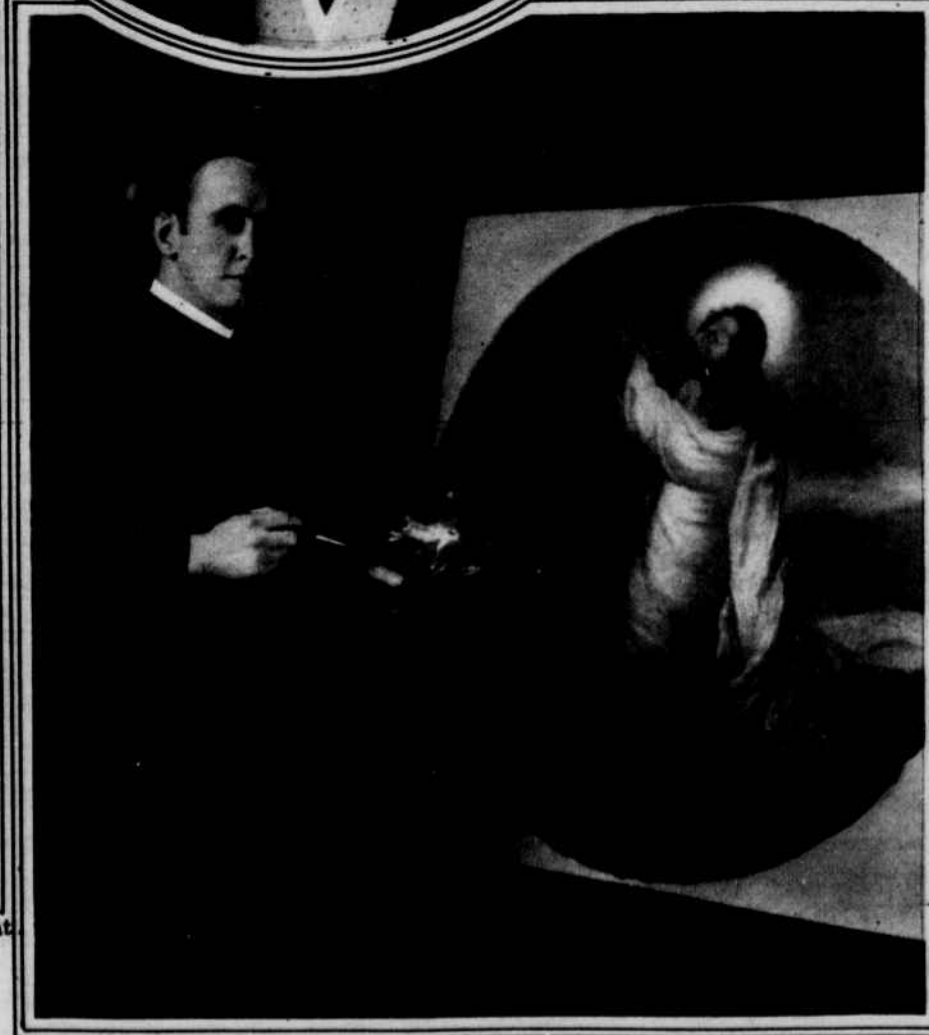

Above—Hanging up both stockings so that Santa Claus may have plenty of room. International.

At left—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the famous Viennese practitioner of plastic surgery, who is demonstrating his skill here as an evidence of his countrymen's gratitude to the United States. Underwood & Underwood.

At left—Preparing the Christmas fleet for the delight of youngsters in all parts of the United States. The face that launched a thousand ships has been replaced by a factory. International.

The Rev. Branford Clarke, pastor of the Pillar of Fire Church, Brooklyn, uses oil paintings, executed by himself, as the texts for a series of sermons. Moody.